- Reiterate NEUTRAL and MYR22.20 TP, 1% upside with c.4% FY22F yield. Carlsberg Brewery's 1Q21 results are in line, as cost control measures partially mitigated the topline weakness. Consumption should recover further in FY22, following the broader reopening of the economy post Malaysia's vaccination drive. That said, we believe that Carlsberg's market valuation has largely priced in the recovery prospect, and do not see a strong catalyst to prompt a valuation upgrade at this juncture.
- 1Q21 results in line. Carlsberg's core net profit of MYR67m (-9% YoY) accounted for 26% of both our and consensus full-year forecasts. Post-results, we make no change to our earnings forecasts and DDM-derived TP of MYR22.20. Our TP implies 23x P/E FY22F, which is close to the stock's 5-year mean and in line with the implied valuation ascribed to its peer, Heineken Malaysia (HEIM MK, NEUTRAL, TP:MYR24)
- Results review. 1Q21 sales dropped by 10% YoY to MYR532m, as on-trade channels were still affected by the pandemic and the ensuing movement restrictions. Singapore managed to churn sales growth of 21% YoY as COVID-19 was better-controlled in the island nation, while Malaysia sales dipped 20% YoY following the imposition of MCO 2.0 in 1Q21. The group implemented cost-cutting measures to correspond with the weaker topline, while marketing events were also reduced due to the pandemic. As a result, 1Q21 operating profit only declined by 9% YoY to MYR82m. Sequentially, 1Q21 sales and operating profit were 13% and 95% higher QoQ, on seasonal factors related to the Lunar New Year festival.
- Challenging 2Q21 ahead. Earnings should weaken in 2Q21F, in view of the spike in new COVID-19 infections and tighter movement restrictions enforced in both of Carlsberg's markets. That said, there should still be a sharp improvement on a YoY basis from the low 2Q20 base. Looking beyond the near term, we forecast FY22 earnings growth at 15% YoY, as we expect consumption to gradually recover post mass vaccinations and the broad reopening of the Malaysian and Singaporean economies. On the flip side, the cautious moves by the group to right-size its workforce in both markets may imply that its sales volume and beer consumption may not return to pre-pandemic levels too soon. Brewers have been focusing on e-commerce and digital platforms to strengthen off-trade volumes, but we believe this may not be able to fully offset the shortfall in on-trade channels. Our forecasts indicate that earnings growth from the pre-pandemic base could only happen in FY23F.
- Downside risks to our recommendation include a delay or failure in the mass inoculation drive, and a loss of market share. The opposite of these circumstances would present upside risks.
